

The FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's privacy law protections. We like our privacy. Since this Privacy law came into being, we have had a much more relaxing eveing at home. The phone is not constantly ringing with someone tryingt to sell us stuff that we really don't want. With the Privacy Law, we have been able to eat our supper in peace. When the phone ringgs we know that it is someone we know. We used to receive several calls a week, now we receive about 3 a month. Now that is a law that is doing what it is supposed to do. Please leave it alone. You know the old saying, "If it is not broken, don't fix it." Well this law is not broken and doesn't need fixing. Thank you for your time. Lee & Lisa D. Simpson
